Murder Climaxes Alleged Kidnaping in Indiana

VICTOR MOSER, 19, DIES IN HOSPITAL, ST. JOSEPH, MICH.

2 NEGROES ARE HELD IN JAIL CHARGED WITH THE MURDER

SOUTH BEND, IND., MAN AND GIRL SAY THEY WERE KIDNAPED BY NEGROES

St. Joseph, Mich., Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—An alleged kidnaping in Indiana was climaxed by murder in Michigan when Victor Moser, 19, died in a hospital here early today. He had been shot shortly after midnight.

Two negroes are held in jail here, charged with the murder. Louis Cohn, 26, and Miss Margaret Kimball, 22, both of South Bend, Ind., who say the negroes kidnaped them, are held for questioning.

Cohn said the negroes, Joseph Stevenson, 25, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Joe Chapman, 22, of South Bend, kidnaped him and Miss Kimball in South Bend and forced them to drive into Michigan. At Watervliet, Mich., Cohn jumped from the car and ran down the street calling for help. The negroes fired.

As Cohn passed a restaurant young Moser stepped outside to see what the trouble was. A bullet, aimed at Cohn, hit him.

He died three hours later, shot through the head.

C. H. Andrews, deputy sheriff, and Walter Kreitlow, of the state police, immediately started tracking the pair through the snow. For 14 miles they followed the tracks, finally capturing Stevenson and Chapman in a field near Hartford, east of Watervliet. The negroes surrendered without a fight.

State police said they were not entirely satisfied with Cohn's story of the kidnaping at South Bend. Cohn said that when he and Miss Kimball came out of her home they found Stevenson and Chapman seated in the car. The negroes, he said, displayed guns and ordered them to get into the front seat and drive into Michigan. At one place along the route they made Cohn stop and replenish his supply of gasoline, he said.

At Watervliet they ordered Cohn to stop, and as he slowed the car he jumped and ran, leaving Miss Kimball in the machine.

CHICAGO GIRL IS STRANGLED TO DEATH

AUTHORITIES DETAIN BARBER, JACK ANTRIM, WITH WHOM SHE LIVED

Chicago, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—The strangulation of Miss Mary Judkins, 20, a slim, blonde girl, under puzzling circumstances, caused authorities to detain Jack Antrim, 29, a barber, with whom she lived, for questioning today.

Dr. Clarence W. Muehlbarger, head of the Northwestern university crime detection school, was enlisted by Coroner Herman N. Bundsen in a separate investigation.

Miss Judkins' body, a silk scarf loosely wrapped around her neck, was found on the floor of a near North Side apartment late yesterday when Antrim's cries summoned other tenants of the building.

Miss Betty Boone, a nurse, said Antrim met her in the hall outside his apartment, and told her his "wife" had committed suicide by strangulation.

Antrim told authorities he found the body on his return from work. He said a radio was missing from the apartment and expressed the belief Miss Judkins had been slain by a burglar.

Antrim was questioned most of last night. He admitted he quarreled with Miss Judkins Monday night because she went out with another man. They made peace yesterday morning, he said.

BELIEVE PREYING BANDIT GANG IS BROKEN UP

OBTAINED MORE THAN $90,000 IN A SERIES OF BANK ROBBERIES

5 SUSPECTS, 3 MEN DRUG ADDICTS, 2 WOMEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Chicago, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—A gang of bank bandits who obtained more than $90,000 in a series of robberies was believed broken up today—because Police Lieut. Andrew Barry noticed their automobile bore the same license plates as the one used in recent hold-ups.

Five suspected members of the band, three men drug addicts and two women, were under arrest. Chief of Detectives John Norton announced they had confessed to robbing nine Illinois banks and were suspected of several other hold-ups.

At least one person was killed as a result of the gang's depredations, police said. He was Robert Wallace, an architect, who was shot down accidentally as the bandits fired at pursuing police in Evanston last Friday night.

Hidden in suitcases, neatly tied packages and behind the moulding of the apartment occupied by the suspects was found $87,000 in currency and bonds, part of it consisting of bundles of $5 and $1 bills. Ten revolvers, two shotguns and one rifle were hidden in the various rooms. A supply of drugs valued at $200 also was found.

BRITISH FREIGHTER GOES AGROUND AT JUPITER INLET

S. S. JAMESON SENDS OUT CALLS FOR AID TO FLORIDA COAST

COAST GUARD ORDERED OUT FROM FORT LAUDERDALE BASE

Jupiter Inlet, Fla., Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Coast guard aid has been despatched to the British freighter, S. S. Jameson, aground about ten miles north of here, the Jupiter Inlet government radio station announced shortly before 8 A. M. today.

Efforts to locate the stranded ship, it was said, resulted in a fruitless automobile drive 15 miles south of here. The car was sent northward in the hope of locating the Jamesson's exact position and plight.

A coast guard tug was ordered out from the Fort Lauderdale base, and was due to arrive well before noon. The Jameson was not regarded in any dangerous condition, the government station said the sea was calm.

The vessel first sent out a call for immediate assistance just before 4 A. M., and repeated its request for help several times thereafter.

Two coast guard vessels, including the tug Perry, immediately left the coast guard base at Fort Lauderdale to the Jameson's aid. An unidentified passenger steamer also responded.

The Jameson is a steel vessel of 3,585 registered tons, according to Lloyd's Register. The ship was built in 1924, and is owned by the Kaye Steam Navigation Company, Ltd.

Officials at the Jupiter naval radio station NAQ told the United Press at 10:15 A. M., that a man representing himself as "Captain Mason" of the Jameson had presented himself at the station and attempted to send several messages—a type of traffic NAQ does not handle.

The ship was advised that "Captain Mason" was ashore, the radio station officials said, but they admitted a question had arisen as to "Captain Mason's" identity. He was said to have advised the ship to divulge no information to the coast guard, the United Press was told.

"It is all a big mystery to us," a radio officer said.

Jolly Old Santa Claus to Skim to Rooftops in His Sleigh Drawn by Prancing Reindeer

AND WILL THEN CLAMBER DOWN THE CHIMNEYS

IN OTHER COUNTRIES KRIS KRINGLE, SAINT NICHOLAS HAVE SIMILAR MISSIONS

HOW SOME OF WORLD'S FAMOUS CHILDREN WILL OBSERVE THE HOLIDAY

(By United Press)

In the United States, Santa Claus, a fat, jolly old man, will skim rooftops in his sleigh drawn by reindeers and descend chimneys to fill with gifts stockings of good children. In other countries, Santa Claus, under various aliases, including Kris Kringle and Saint Nicholas, will fulfill a similar mission.

The United Press has gathered accounts of how some of the world's famous children will observe the day.

In the White House at Washington, the rotund Santa Claus will be received in state in the nursery on the third floor, where President Hoover's three grandchildren will have their stockings hung at the mantelpiece. Peggy Anne, who is 4; Herbert III, 2, and Joan, six months, have already rehearsed hanging of the stockings several times and have even been heard to pass discreet hints as to what they expect to find at the fireside.

One young lady in Washington is quite anxious that Santa doesn't tarry too long in the White House nursery. She is Paulina Longworth, 6-year-old daughter of Speaker and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. Paulina will spend Christmas Day at home playing with her anticipated toys. Mrs. Longworth, the former Alice Roosevelt, can recall the Christmas parties she attended while residing at the White House.

Crown Prince Michael of Rumania will spend the first Christmas with his father, King Carol, in five years. The 9-year-old prince has drafted a list of playmates who have been invited to spend Christmas Day in the palace at Bucharest with him and play with his toys.

Sandringham House, at Norfolk, in England, will resound to the laughter of Princess Elizabeth and her baby sister, Princess Margret Rose, who will be the guest of honor during the annual Christmas reunion of the royal family. The princesses and their parents, the Duke and Duchess of York, will join with King George, Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, Princess Mary and her two sons in the Yuletide celebration. The Princess Elizabeth has already arranged to hang her own and her sister's tiny stockings at the bedrail tonight.

Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., not yet six months old, will make his first contact with Santa Claus at the home of his grandparents, Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, in Englewood, N. J.

The two adopted daughters of the world's biggest Babe—George Herman Ruth, the home run monarch—are going to enjoy "just a good old fashioned Christmas," the Babe telegraphed the United Press.

There will be no Christmas tree at the Villa Torlonia, where Premier Mussolini of Italy and members of his family will spend the holiday. In its stead the family will have a "presepe," a miniature reproduction of Christ in the manger. The "presepe" has been arranged especially for Anna Maria, 14 months old, and Romano, three.

Vittorio has selected the day to publish the first number of "The Boys' Pen," for which he has written the leading article to begin auspiciously his career as a journalist.

The infant Princess Ragnhild, the daughter of the crown prince of Norway, will preside over a typically Norwegian Christmas celebration at Oslo Castle tonight. A huge tree has been brought in from the crown prince's estate at Skougam.

Young Michael Lewis, six months' old offspring of the Sinclair Lewises, will celebrate his first Christmas without his parents. He is taking advantage of the absence of his father and mother, who have been abroad collecting the Nobel prize for literature, by lording it over a half dozen servants, a trained nurse and two baby specialists who call daily at the Lewis farm, near Westport, Conn.

Christmas will be little different from any other day for the Watkins and the Bamberger babies of Chicago. The infants, who a few months ago were so much in the public eye when they figured in a hospital mixup, will devote most of the day to sleeping and drinking milk. Some bits of wearing apparel were expected to be presented to the Bamberger child by the many relatives who will call at the house. Henry Watkins, father of the other baby, is still unemployed and the celebration will be very unpretentious.

President Von Hindenburg's grandchildren, Gertrude, 8; Helga, 7; and Hubertus, 2, will recite poems and sing carols beneath a tall Christmas tree in the presidential palace in Berlin. Their parents, Col. Oskar Von Hindenburg and his wife, will be present.

A $30,000 Stradivarius violin will be the outstanding Christmas gift to Ruggiero Ricci, the child violinist, who will spend the holiday with his parents and six other brothers and sisters at the home of friends in Chicago.

A Christmas tree, virtually hidden by gifts, is to be the center of the Christmas celebration in the Atlanta, Ga., home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tyre Jones, Jr. Clara Maione, 5, and Bobby III, 4, have borrowed some of their golfer daddy's woolen sport hose, so that Santa won't be cramped for space.

Albert and Ralph Capone, 12 and 14 years old, respectively, intelligent and well-mannered sons of the notorious Chicago gang leader, probably will receive lavish gifts from their parents. Capone is an indulgent father. Few people know the present whereabouts of the Capones but they are thought to be either in Miami, Fla., or Cicero, Ill.

There will be a big party at the home of John Barrymore and Dolores Costello, for their 9-months-old daughter, Dolores Ethel Mae. Members of the crew of the Barrymore yacht in which the family recently returned from a tropical cruise, sent the infant a present.

State Capitol Offices Close Early for Holidays

St. Paul, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Offices at the state capitol closed at noon today to enable employees to return to their homes for Chrsitmas. They will be reopened Friday morning.

ENCOURAGEMENT OVER SITUATION OF UNEMPLOYED

STATEMENT FROM PRES. GREEN OF A. F. OF L. ON NUMBER OF JOBLESS

UNEMPLOYMENT DID NOT INCREASE MUCH FROM NOVEMBER TO DECEMBER

Washington, Dec. 24—(U.P.)—Although it is estimated that more persons are out of work now than at any time during the current depression, several reasons for encouragement were found today in development affecting the unemployed.

A statement from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor placed the total number of unemployed in the United States at 5,300,000 but added:

"In spite of the tragedy of more than five million out of work, our figures for December give ground for encouragement. Unemployment did not increase as much from November to December this year as it usually does even in normal years. . . . If January figures again show less than the normal increase we will be justified in the belief that a change for the better may be in the making."

The Green statement came after the war department had announced allotment of $20,809,340 for rivers and harbors projects and flood control work to relieve unemployment, and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde had apportioned $80,000,000 among the states to be used in road construction.

The war department allotted $156,000 for work on the Duluth-Superior harbor. The Duluth engineering district reecived an allotment of $14,000.

Another encouraging development was President Hoover's announcement that the government has adopted and will pursue a policy of maintaining the highest prevailing wage scales in construction contracts.

Also, the federal reserve board approved the lowest rediscount rate in history for the New York Federal Reserve Bank. The new rate of two per cent is expected to stimulate loaning of money for constructive purposes.

The A. F. of L. statement made no effort to minimize the situation. While carrying the note of hopefulness, it stated that "suffering from unemployment is already intense and every effort is needed to relieve the unemployed."

Analyzing the situation, Green said the number out of work increased from 15.9 per cent of union membership in November to 16.5 in December.

RAYMOND POINCARE IMPROVING IN HEALTH

Paris, Dec. 24—(U.P.)—Raymond Poincare improved sufficiently in health today to take an active interest in the political situation. He asked Madame Poincare to read the newspapers to him, especially the political news.

The former president has been seriously ill at his home here and physicians have ordered him to take a complete rest for several months.

West Haven, Conn., Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Two men were shot today when bandits held up an automobile containing the payroll of the American Mills Co., Allington branch.

The amount taken was believed to be $4,931.

POPE PIUS XI MAKES CHRISTMAS EVE ADDRESS

ACCEPTS CHRISTMAS WISHES OF SACRED COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

ASKS PRAYERS FOR SOVIET RUSSIA, CHINA AND MEXICO

By THOMAS B. MORGAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Vatican City, Dec. 24—The economic difficulties of the world are due to "the interdependence of the nations' economy," Pope Pius XI said today in accepting the Christmas wishes of the sacred college of cardinals.

In his Christmas Eve address to the cardinals the pope asked prayers for Soviet Russia, China and Mexico.

The cardinals, headed by Cardinal Granito Pignatelli Di Belmonte, bishop of Albano and dean of the sacred college, visited the pope to extend Christmas wishes. All of the cardinals resident here participated in the ceremony.

Cardinal Granito read an address to the pope, who replied by briefly reviewing the church history of the year and touching on the world economic depression which has been acutely felt at Christmas time in various parts of the world.

"The world is upset on account of the inter-dependence of nations' economy," said the pope.

Again he said: "The true peace alone is Christ's peace."

The pope also vigorously condemned "Protestant propaganda" in Rome.

In the past the pope has made several attacks on "the proselyting" by Protestants among the Catholics of the Italian capital, especially in the suburbs where the Protestant organizations have been most thoroughly developed.

PROF. ALBERT EINSTEIN GIVEN $150 PANAMA HAT, BEST OF ITS KIND

Panama City, R. P., Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Prof. Albert Eintsein had a new Panama hat today. The hat was a gift from the Panama Chamber of Commerce, cost $150, and was a fine example of the best in Panama hats, which are made in Peru, Ecuador and Venezuela, but not in Panama.

Prof. Einstein came ashore here yesterday from the liner Belgenland. He was received by President Florencio Harmondio Arosemena, visited the German legation, and saw the sights of the city, including the Canal Zone community house.

VANDALS ROB TREES OF THEIR TOPS

When the government acquired land at Little Falls for the new national guard camp, Fort Ripley, it was discovered that a growth of 150 spruce trees was included.

General Walsh decided to use them in landscaping the grounds. Today he was informed vandals had cut the tor from each tree, ruining them for ornamental purposes.

BLACK POWDER BOMB SHATTERS WINDOWS AT EVANSTON, ILL.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 24—(U.P.)—A black powder bomb exploded today in the rear of an Evanston apartment building, shattered windows within a radius of two blocks, caused damage estimated at $10,000 and drove scores of thinly clad residents into the streets in below freezing weather.

Police said all boys in the neighborhood would be questioned today in an investigation of the bombing. Three similar explosions a year ago were traced to "joking" school boys.

INTRA-PARTY BATTLE AMONG REPUBLICANS

MAY LEAD TO FORMATION OF A THIRD PARTY IF NOT SETTLED SOON

STAND-PAT ELEMENT FAVORS EXPULSION OF SENATOR GEO. W. NORRIS

By LYLE C. WILSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 24—Stand-pat and insurgent republicans were being drawn today nito an intra-party battle which could lead to formation of a third party if the present rate of cleavage were maintained until the nominating conventions in 1932. But neither combattant indicated any desire to carry the fight to such an end.

The stand-pat element emphatically denied any purpose except expulsion of Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska, from the republican party. Insurgents replied that the effort to defeat Norris this year in Nebraska was duplicated, perhaps on a smaller scale, against Senator McMaster in South Dakota and Senator Schall in Minnesota.

And it was under these circumstances that the issue of drastic or lenient federal control of hydro-electric power issues has been aggravated by discharge of Solicitor Charles F. Russell and Chief Accountant William V. King by the new power commission.

When Norris bolted the Hoover-Curtis ticket to support Governor Alfred E. Smith in 1928, he stated repeatedly that he did not approve of Mr. Hoover's position against government power operation. Discharge for Russell and King, who opposed power company efforts to obtain more lenient treatment, was cited by democrats and progressive republicans as reflecting Mr. Hoover's theories on federal control.

The power issue and the effort of Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee, to defeat Norris in Nebraska combined today to make the veteran progressive the leader of any third party movement if one should come.

But capital opinion questioned the likelihood of the republican civil war going to such drastic conclusions. Regular republicans in the senate with few exceptions disagreed with Lucas on the advisability of making a secret fight on Norris. Some of them believe Lucas was mistaken to have opposed Norris at all after he had obtained the regular republican nomination in his state.

Personal as well as political factors combined to form these opinions. The regular republicans possess committee chairmanships and valuable patronage here. They are loathe to join any movement to drive Norris or the progressives generally from the party. When congress meets again next December the party alignment will be cloes. Without Norris' vote the republicans might not be able to organize and those coveted positions would fall to democrats for the first time in many years.

SPEEDS PAST STOP SIGN AND KILLED

JOHN BERGLUND TRIED TO BEAT PASSENGER TRAIN AT MINNEAPOLIS CROSSING

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 24.—Speeding his auto past a stop sign, John Berglund was instantly killed today when his car was struck by a passenger train.

Witnesses said Berglund ignored stop signs in an effort to cross the track ahead of the train.

His car was caught in the pilot of the locomotive and dragged 200 feet along the right-of-way. Berglund's body was badly mangled.

The fire department was called to put out flames that enveloped the auto and engine when the car's smashed gasoline tank caught fire.

FACTORY TURNS SANTA CLAUS

He is taking advantage of the absence of his father and mother, who have been abroad collecting the Nobel prize for literature, by lording it over a half dozen servants, a trained nurse and two baby specialists who call daily at the Lewis farm, near Westport, Conn.

Christmas will be little different from any other day for the Watkins and the Bamberger babies of Chicago. The infants, who a few months ago were so much in the public eye when they figured in a hospital mixup, will devote most of the day to sleeping and drinking milk. Some bits of wearing apparel were expected to be presented to the Bamberger child by the many relatives who will call at the house. Henry Watkins, father of the other baby, is still unemployed and the celebration will be very unpretentious.

President Von Hindenburg's grandchildren, Gertrude, 8; Helga, 7; and Hubertus, 2, will recite poems and sing carols beneath a tall Christmas tree in the presidential palace in Berlin. Their parents, Col. Oskar Von Hindenburg and his wife, will be present.

A $30,000 Stradivarius violin will be the outstanding Christmas gift to Ruggiero Ricci, the child violinist, who will spend the holiday with his parents and six other brothers and sisters at the home of friends in Chicago.

A Christmas tree, virtually hidden by gifts, is to be the center of the Christmas celebration in the Atlanta, Ga., home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tyre Jones, Jr. Clara Maione, 5, and Bobby III, 4, have borrowed some of their golfer daddy's woolen sport hose, so that Santa won't be cramped for space.

Albert and Ralph Capone, 12 and 14 years old, respectively, intelligent and well-mannered sons of the notorious Chicago gang leader, probably will receive lavish gifts from their parents. Capone is an indulgent father. Few people know the present whereabouts of the Capones but they are thought to be either in Miami, Fla., or Cicero, Ill.

There will be a big party at the home of John Barrymore and Dolores Costello, for their 9-months-old daughter, Dolores Ethel Mae. Members of the crew of the Barrymore yacht in which the family recently returned from a tropical cruise, sent the infant a present.

State Capitol Offices Close Early for Holidays

ENCOURAGEMENT OVER SITUATION OF UNEMPLOYED

STATEMENT FROM PRES. GREEN OF A. F. OF L. ON NUMBER OF JOBLESS

UNEMPLOYMENT DID NOT INCREASE MUCH FROM NOVEMBER TO DECEMBER

Washington, Dec. 24—(U.P.)—Although it is estimated that more persons are out of work now than at any time during the current depression, several reasons for encouragement were found today in development affecting the unemployed.

A statement from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor placed the total number of unemployed in the United States at 5,300,000 but added:

"In spite of the tragedy of more than five million out of work, our figures for December give ground for encouragement. Unemployment did not increase as much from November to December this year as it usually does even in normal years. . . . If January figures again show less than the normal increase we will be justified in the belief that a change for the better may be in the making."

The Green statement came after the war department had announced allotment of $20,809,340 for rivers and harbors projects and flood control work to relieve unemployment, and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde had apportioned $80,000,000 among the states to be used in road construction.

The war department allotted $156,000 for work on the Duluth-Superior harbor. The Duluth engineering district reecived an allotment of $14,000.

Another encouraging development was President Hoover's announcement that the government has adopted and will pursue a policy of maintaining the highest prevailing wage scales in construction contracts.

Also, the federal reserve board approved the lowest rediscount rate in history for the New York Federal Reserve Bank. The new rate of two per cent is expected to stimulate loaning of money for constructive purposes.

The A. F. of L. statement made no effort to minimize the situation. While carrying the note of hopefulness, it stated that "suffering from unemployment is already intense and every effort is needed to relieve the unemployed."

Analyzing the situation, Green said the number out of work increased from 15.9 per cent of union membership in November to 16.5 in December.

RAYMOND POINCARE IMPROVING IN HEALTH

Paris, Dec. 24—(U.P.)—Raymond Poincare improved sufficiently in health today to take an active interest in the political situation. He asked Madame Poincare to read the newspapers to him, especially the political news.

The former president has been seriously ill at his home here and physicians have ordered him to take a complete rest for several months.

2 PAYROLL GUARDS SHOT AS BANDITS STEAL PAYROLL

West Haven, Conn., Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Two men were shot today when bandits held up an automobile containing the payroll of the American Mills Co., Allington branch.

The wounded, taken to New Haven hospital, were said to have been payroll guards. Police said the bandits escaped with the car and money.

The amount taken was believed to be $4,931.

POPE PIUS XI MAKES CHRISTMAS EVE ADDRESS

ASKS PRAYERS FOR SOVIET RUSSIA, CHINA AND MEXICO

By THOMAS B. MORGAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Vatican City, Dec. 24—The economic difficulties of the world are due to "the interdependence of the nations' economy," Pope Pius XI said today in accepting the Christmas wishes of the sacred college of cardinals.

In his Christmas Eve address to the cardinals the pope asked prayers for Soviet Russia, China and Mexico.

The cardinals, headed by Cardinal Granito Pignatelli Di Belmonte, bishop of Albano and dean of the sacred college, visited the pope to extend Christmas wishes. All of the cardinals resident here participated in the ceremony.

Cardinal Granito read an address to the pope, who replied by briefly reviewing the church history of the year and touching on the world economic depression which has been acutely felt at Christmas time in various parts of the world.

"The world is upset on account of the inter-dependence of nations' economy," said the pope.

Again he said: "The true peace alone is Christ's peace."

The pope also vigorously condemned "Protestant propaganda" in Rome.

In the past the pope has made several attacks on "the proselyting" by Protestants among the Catholics of the Italian capital, especially in the suburbs where the Protestant organizations have been most thoroughly developed.

PROF. ALBERT EINSTEIN GIVEN $150 PANAMA HAT, BEST OF ITS KIND

Panama City, R. P., Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Prof. Albert Eintsein had a new Panama hat today. The hat was a gift from the Panama Chamber of Commerce, cost $150, and was a fine example of the best in Panama hats, which are made in Peru, Ecuador and Venezuela, but not in Panama.

Prof. Einstein came ashore here yesterday from the liner Belgenland. He was received by President Florencio Harmondio Arosemena, visited the German legation, and saw the sights of the city, including the Canal Zone community house.

VANDALS ROB TREES OF THEIR TOPS

When the government acquired land at Little Falls for the new national guard camp, Fort Ripley, it was discovered that a growth of 150 spruce trees was included.

General Walsh decided to use them in landscaping the grounds. Today he was informed vandals had cut the top from each tree, ruining them for ornamental purposes.

BLACK POWDER BOMB SHATTERS WINDOWS AT EVANSTON, ILL.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 24—(U.P.)—A black powder bomb exploded today in the rear of an Evanston apartment building, shattered windows within a radius of two blocks, caused damage estimated at $10,000 and drove scores of thinly clad residents into the streets in below freezing weather.

Police said all boys in the neighborhood would be questioned today in an investigation of the bombing. Three similar explosions a year ago were traced to "joking" school boys.

INTRA-PARTY BATTLE AMONG REPUBLICANS

MAY LEAD TO FORMATION OF A THIRD PARTY IF NOT SETTLED SOON

STAND-PAT ELEMENT FAVORS EXPULSION OF SENATOR GEO. W. NORRIS

By LYLE C. WILSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 24—Stand-pat and insurgent republicans were being drawn today nito an intra-party battle which could lead to formation of a third party if the present rate of cleavage were maintained until the nominating conventions in 1932. But neither combattant indicated any desire to carry the fight to such an end.

The stand-pat element emphatically denied any purpose except expulsion of Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska, from the republican party. Insurgents replied that the effort to defeat Norris this year in Nebraska was duplicated, perhaps on a smaller scale, against Senator McMaster in South Dakota and Senator Schall in Minnesota.

And it was under these circumstances that the issue of drastic or lenient federal control of hydro-electric power issues has been aggravated by discharge of Solicitor Charles F. Russell and Chief Accountant William V. King by the new power commission.

When Norris bolted the Hoover-Curtis ticket to support Governor Alfred E. Smith in 1928, he stated repeatedly that he did not approve of Mr. Hoover's position against government power operation. Discharge for Russell and King, who opposed power company efforts to obtain more lenient treatment, was cited by democrats and progressive republicans as reflecting Mr. Hoover's theories on federal control.

The power issue and the effort of Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee, to defeat Norris in Nebraska combined today to make the veteran progressive the leader of any third party movement if one should come.

But capital opinion questioned the likelihood of the republican civil war going to such drastic conclusions. Regular republicans in the senate with few exceptions disagreed with Lucas on the advisability of making a secret fight on Norris. Some of them believe Lucas was mistaken to have opposed Norris at all after he had obtained the regular republican nomination in his state.

Personal as well as political factors combined to form these opinions. The regular republicans possess committee chairmanships and valuable patronage here. They are loathe to join any movement to drive Norris or the progressives generally from the party. When congress meets again next December the party alignment will be cloes. Without Norris' vote the republicans might not be able to organize and those coveted positions would fall to democrats for the first time in many years.

SPEEDS PAST STOP SIGN AND KILLED

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 24.—Speeding his auto past a stop sign, John Berglund was instantly killed today when his car was struck by a passenger train.

Witnesses said Berglund ignored stop signs in an effort to cross the track ahead of the train.

His car was caught in the pilot of the locomotive and dragged 200 feet along the right-of-way. Berglund's body was badly mangled.

The fire department was called to put out flames that enveloped the auto and engine when the car's smashed gasoline tank caught fire.

FACTORY TURNS SANTA CLAUS

Minneapolis, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—The Strong-Scott Manufacturing Co., makers of flour milling equipment, turned anta Claus today.

Twenty-five needy families were adopted. Clothes, fuel and Christmas dinners were provided.

Jobs for one able-bodied person in each family will be obtained and if delay is encountered in getting work, the company will continue to donate food and necessities until a position is obtained.

KELLOGGS EXPECTED HOME TONIGHT

St. Paul, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Frank B. Kellogg and his wife were expected to arrive tonight for a quiet Christmas celebration at home on their return from Oslo, Norway, where Kellogg was awarded the Nobel peace prize.

Friends said that no elaborate or formal celebration was planned on their arrival.

The Greatest Story Ever Told

AND there were shepherds in the same country abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock. And an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people. For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord. And this is the sign unto you: Ye shall find a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased.

And it came to pass, when the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing that is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us. And they came with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in the manger. And when they saw it, they made known concerning the saying which was spoken to them about this child. And all that heard it wondered at the things which were spoken unto them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these saying, pondering them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, even as it was spoken unto them.

NEW LICENSES ON SALE JANUARY 1

1931 Plates for All Types of Vehicles Received Today by R. M. Sheets

PENALTY AFTER FEBRUARY 15

Licenses of New Cars Must Be Taken Out Within Seven Days After Purchase

Minnesota's 1931 automobile, truck, motorcycle and trailer licenses go on sale January 1 and continue throughout the year at the office of the deputy registrar, Ralph M. Sheets, editor and publisher of The Brainerd Journal-Press, Front Street.

The new license for cars has the color scheme of black background with white lettering.

Five thousand plates are on hand and may be purchased on application by anyone in the state.

Three years ago when the office was first established 3,000 license plates were sold. Since that time there has been a continual increase. In 1929, 4,000 license plates were issued and last year 5,000 plates were taken out.

To avoid the penalty, licenses must be secured from January 1 to February 15. After the latter date a penalty of $1 a month or the fraction thereof will be affixed until the maximum penalty of $7.50 is reached.

Mr. Sheets urged all vehicle owners to get license plates as early as possible to avoid last minute rushes such as have occurred in the past when between $500 to 800 plates were issued daily in the last few days.

Purchasers of new cars must apply for licenses within seven days after the purchase is made. The half year rate will start July 1 and the quarter year rate will go into effect October 1.

Class A pleasure cars, not over 1,000 pounds carries a minimum license fee of $10. Any pleasure car over 1,000 pounds comes in the B classification on which the minimum license is $12.50. All pleasure cars are taxed at the rate of 2.4 per cent of the factory cost. The rate of depreciation is figured at 10 per cent a year on the factory cost of any car until the minimum in its class is reached. The minimum then remains until the car is dsiposed of or junked.

PENNEY COMPANY ALLOTS BONUS FUND

Seven Employes of Local Penney Store Share in Distribution

The annual Christmas bonus fund for employees of the J. C. Penney Co., totals $536,778.36 for 1930 with 6.671 salespeople and other employees benefitting. Distribution of the bonus checks will be made at the close of business on December 24.

The total number of employees benefitted by this bonus is 144 greater than last year when the total recipients of bonus checks totalled 5,527.

Bonus checks are based upon duration of service with the company and the annual salary rate of the individual. In all, employees in more than 1,450 stores as well as in the New York City and St. Louis district offices will receive checks on Christmas Eve.

All associates sharing in this bonus were in the employ of the company on January 1, 1930.

Seven employees of the local J. C. Penney Co. store participated in the bonuses given by the company this year according to R. E. Wyett, manager. The woman employee receiving the largest bonus for sales volume was Mrs. Chas. Hill. Other participants in bonus checks were: Marie Volkl, Mathilda Kirsch, Gertrude Wolford, Carolyn Graff, Nettie Dullum, Mardelle Mraz.

Bank Building Offices Celebrate With Yule Tree, Gifts, Poetry

Gathering in the reception room at the Brainerd Clinic, employers and employees of the offices on the second floor of the First National Bank building today noon celebrated their annual Christmas together, grouping around a glistening Yule tree.

Lots were drawn and each gave his or her choice a present. Impromptu poetry was read with many of the gifts as they were presented. All ate candy, nuts and popcorn balls.

Among those present were: A. D. Polk, Elaine Hartley, W. W. Bane, Per M. Larson, Franklin Ebner, Dr. G. H. Ribbel, Dr. J. L. Fredericks, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Thabes, Sr., Dr. and Mrs. J. A Thabes, Jr, Dr. G. I. Badeaux, Dr. L. F. Hawkinson, Mrs. P. H. Larkin, Margaret Rosko, G. W. Chadbourne, John Chadbourne, Mrs. Pmoebe Maxe, Mrs. R. J. Hartley.

13 County Prisoners To Get Holiday Fare

Thirteen prisoners in the county jail will get turkey and all the trimmin's at the Christmas noon meal, Sheriff Claus A. Theorin said today.

At the present time there is only one prisoner in the city jail, that prisoner being on a bread and water diet. He will be released tomorrow morning after breakfast.

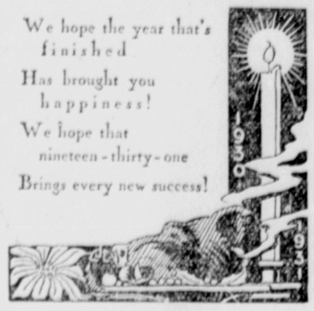

Minneapolis, Dec. 24.—Two hundred silver dollars jingled into the pockets of 200 needy men each Christmas from the hands of an anonymous donor who keeps his identity successfully hidden. This year he will again choose 200 needy men as recipients of his Christmas gifts, elaborate dinners at a downtown cafe.

GIRL UNAFRAID

BY GLADYS JOHNSON

ARDETH CARROLL is just a shopgirl, leading a very simple life, but her ideals are high. She looks beyond the drab existence marriage to Neil Burke would mean. Seeing handsome Ken Gleason with Cecile Parker, society belle, Ardeth's heart leaps. When Cecile's sister, Jeanette, opens a specialty shop, she asks Ardeth to take charge. Ardeth meets Ken at the shop. Shortly after, knowing Jeanette has left for the day, Ken calls, feigning he had planned to drive Jeanette home. He asks Ardeth to go instead. Ken plans a foursome of Ardeth, Jeanette, Tom Corbett and himself. Jeanette and Tom are unable to go, so Ken is alone with Ardeth. They picnic together, their hearts racing with each other's nearness. Ken kisses Ardeth. Next day, Ardeth waits in vain for Ken's visit. She feels she was just another flirtation. One night Ken meets Ardeth after work and her heartaches vanish.

CHAPTER XI.

HER head went proudly up. She fumbled for the door handle and turned, a light good night on her lips.

Her sweet brave gaze caught in his own. The man gave a reckless little laugh and pulled her into his arms.

Again that strange heady happiness surging through her blood. Pulsing in her lips. Ah, life was sweet . . . sweet . . .

Ken's voice, a husky whisper.

"Open your eyes, sweetheart . . . Look at me . . ."

Obediently she lifted her lashes.

Startling to find his face poised a few inches above her own. His eyes—wide—intent, growing out of the dark.

A funny little shake in his voice, as though he spoke against his will.

"Hungry for you, sweetheart . . . just plain starved! I couldn't stay away another day."

She hardly heard his words. Her heart was throbbing an undertone which turned each drop of blood in her veins to sparkling golden wine. Her eyes closed as their lips met and her arm crept about Ken's neck, drawing his face closer.

Where this blind love for Ken was leading her Ardeth did not stop to consider. Later, when she looked back upon this time in memory, it seemed impossible that she could have been so indifferent to the future.

She was in a trance of happiness. Nothing was very real these days, save Ken. She went about in a dream which took no note of the things which had once grated on her. Aunt Stel's nagging—Bet's petty spite—these held no weight. Even Neil had become one of the shadowy people melting into her background when she was not with Ken.

Afterwards, Ardeth wondered if it was not some instinctive fear of the future which kept her thoughts from crystalizing into practical plans—some subtle sense of trouble which makes the dreamer persist in the dream because waking means facing unpleasant reality.

Jeanette's little shop was doubly dear to Ardeth at this time—not only as escape from the shabby Harrison flat, but because it provided a meeting place for Ken and herself.

Rarely a day when Ken did not drop in now, as Jeanette observed to herself wth a narrow secretive smile. The smokerie gave him ample excuse.

Jeanette's scheme to turn the backroom into a woman's smoking retreat was proving a bonanza.

Always someone dropping into the shop now for a cup of tea or a cigarette, or for that other excellent reason—merely to see who else was there.

Ardeth grew to know by sight women who had been only names to her in the society section of the Sunday papers. Young matrons and the more sophisticated of the debutantes, for the most part, with always a piquant peppering of men.

From the middle of the forenoon to the closing hour they sauntered in for free tea and expensive cigarettes. The backroom breathed always of incense and expensive perfumes and tinkled with teacups and laughter. It took on the nature of a smart club.

Jeanette, beginning to be bored by the game of tending shop, found new interest in playing hostess. She was generally in the smokerie these days, chatting over the latest bit of gossip or subtly engineering the sale of her latest perfume—powder compact—cigarette case or holder, leaving the care of the outer shop to Ardeth.

A changing show, passing under the eyes of the slender golden-haired girl watching from behind the glass case. She came to know their individualities . . . Tow-headed Phyllis Hawkins, lisping sophistries with a baby stare. The vacant faced Duvant twins, the one who giggled and the one who drawled "Not ree-ally!" Tall, dark Mary Eastwood, whom she liked for a sort of boyish frankness in her manner.

And there was Cyril Underhill . . .

A dark, silly sort of person was Cyril. His features were Eurasian—something of the wariness of the Orient, too, in his long black eyes. One felt instinctively that he had no right to his English name.

Something of feline grace about his tall, slim figure which fascinated most women and caused most men to long to punch him.

"He makes me think of secret stairways and daggers and poison cups," said Ardeth to Jeanette on the occasion of his first visit to the store.

Jeanette shrugged and laughed: "Oh—Cyril! No one really takes him seriously—but he keeps them entertained." As though in vindication, a burst of laughter came from the back room, trailing the Duvant twin's deliciously shocked "Not ree-ally!" in its wake.

Cyril Underhill always knew the details of the latest scandal. Standing with one slender white hand trailing over the corner of a Coramandel screen, his heavy-lidded eyes looking about at his appreciative feminine audience, he had a way of tossing out pungent footnotes with a bold lightness which robbed them of maliciousness until one came to think them over later.

Cecile especially got piquant enjoyment out of his society. Often he sat beside her on the divan of an afternoon, murmuring in a cynical undertone until Cecile's orange lips parted and her sharp little teeth glistened through.

Only one other person in "The Caprice" disliked him as did Ardeth. This was Ah-Ling, the little Chinese maid. When he addressed these two girls, Cyril's tone changed. It lost the slight suggestion of flattering homage he paid the other woman and took on a shade of appraising patronage.

As Ah-Ling, in her leaf-green silk robe, passed the Canton teacups about the smokerie, his hooded gaze followed her. He called her "Dah-ling"—a witticism which brought forth appreciative laughter in the backroom and flashing-eyed resentment in the outer shop when Ah-Ling held forth to Ardeth.

"The insulting pup!" Ah Ling expressed herself in most unpicturesque Americanese. 'I'd like to smack him one for that!'"

But not all the men who frequented the smokerie were of the type of Cyril. There was Fred Eastwood, Mary's stout stockbroker husband. And one day Ken brought Tom Corbett. Tom Corbett was a slow-spoken chap, stocky and sandy-haired, the sort of man children and dogs like immediately. When Ken introduced him, Ardeth privately marvelled at the strong bond of friendship which had held the two men since their college days. They were exact opposites. Tom was slow where Ken was quick. Ken was sparkling water—Tom, solid earth. Yet there was between them a deep regard, a quiet loyalty which exists between few men and no women.

Ken's appearance in the shop this morning was hailed with feminine cries of delight.

"Ken Gleason—come over here and tell me why you didn't show at the Waller dance last night!" Cecile ordered with pretty imperativeness.

And suddenly—as she watched him go into the other room and seat himself beside Cecile, who moved over to make room for him, Ardeth's fools' paradise vanished about her.

She was tremulous—fear, like a little dagger, sticking in her heart.

To be forced to remain out there in the shop while Ken vanished in there. . . . In there—that other world, where he belonged and she could not follow. It was like a symbol . . . a warning of what would always be. . . .

She moved about the place—keenly aware as she passed the open door that Ken's sparkling face was turned toward Cecile, and her heart was heavy.

Tears stinging her eyes as she automatically rearranged the trinkets on the case. She was so lost in her own somber thoughts that she jumped nervously at a man's voice sounding beside her.

Tom Corbett had come out and had leaned on the case, his serious brown eyes fastened on her face.

ALUMNI FAIL TO MATCH VARSITY IN SCORING BATTLE

ALUMNI SHOW LACK OF PRACTICE BUT FLASHES OF OLD SPEED EVIDENT

Not a has-been among them! That was one angle from which the fans looked at the former bright lights of the Brainerd high school squad in the annual cage game between the Alumni and the Varsity last evening at the B. H. S. gym.

Putting up a strong fight but handicapped by lack of practice together and hard put to break the zone defense which confronted their attacks, the Alumni boys finished up on the short end of a 22 to 20 count.

Frank Wise, scoring demon and savior of many a high school battle, was held to one field goal and one free through although his floor work was one of the highlights of the game.

Every member of the Alumni squad showed increased weight with the exception of "Ichabod" Guin who, when his one field goal and one free throw is considered, had a mediocre night. Guin has flashed through many a high school struggle and is this year trying out for a berth on the Teachers' College quint at St. Cloud.

Benny Foster started the game but was forced out in the early minutes of the game with a wrenched knee.

There was heavy substituting by both teams and "Pee Wee" Ray Wise achieved a long dreamed ambition of playing against his notable elder brother. He was inserted in the fray in the closing minute and a half of the first half.

Elmer Foster was the scoring ace of the evening. He found the hoop for five field goals.

Coach Bill Dammann gave Schuety a good workout to prepare him for play in the January 3 game when Brainerd will meet Duluth Central here. Schuety has been out of competition so far this season with a finger injury received in football. He was seen to favor the injured finger, which affected his game somewhat.

The fans got a kick out of Referee Peterson's penalty against Frank Wise when the veteran failed to report to him on going into the game in the first quarter for Hautala.

The Alumni started Paine, Hautala, Guin, Foster and Garvey, substituting Fuller for Foster, Clausen for Garvey, Gabiou for Garvey, Wise for Hautala, Hoffbauer for Guin, Goedderz for Hautala and Paine for Goedderz.

The Varsity trotted out Foster, Wygle, Patterson, Marshall, Schuety and subbed Swanson for Wygle, White for Schuety, Jerry Wygle for Patterson, Ray Wise for Swanson and Wygle for Swanson.

The score was tied 5-5 at the quarter, the Varsity led 13 to 8 at the half, kept a lead of 18 to 13 at the third quarter and was ahead 22 to 20 at the close.

Last year's Varsity-Alumni game was won by the Alumni by a close margin.

COACHING WILL NOT ENDANGER ROCKNE'S HEALTH

BOB ZUPPKE NOT TO BE LURED AWAY FROM ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

MIDWEST TO SEE NO IMPORTANT COACHING CHANGES THIS SEASON

By DIXON STEWART

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Dec. 24. — Announcement that continued coaching will not endanger Knute Rockne's health and that Bob Zuppke will not be lured away from Illinois by offers from other colleges no matter what the salary, today exploded two of the hot stove league's most persistent rumors. With Rockne and Zuppke certain to retain their present positions, it appears probable that the midwest will see no important coaching changes this season.

Rockne previously had denied reports that he planned to retire from active coaching and devote his attention to his position as athletic director at Notre Dame. With the announcement of Dr. C. J. Barborka of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., that Rockne has been advised to abandon some of the "annoying routine" of his strenuous life but can continue coaching without endangering his health, all doubt was removed regarding the Notre Dame mentor's continued activity.

Zuppke announced his intention of remaining at Illinois just before entraining for Dallas, Texas, where he will direct a midwest team in the annual Dixie classic charity game Jan. 1.

"I do not want to be put in the position of declining offers which have been made," said Zuppke, "but to settle the gossip which has connected my name with several positions I want to say that I shall not leave Illinois under any consideration. It is the only university I ever have coached. I have been here 18 years and Illinois means too much to me ever to think of leaving."

George Huff, director of athletics at Illinois, expressed pleasure at Zuppke's decision and praised the coach. "It seems to be fashionable just now to regard all football coaches as merely mercenary, which in my opinion is far from the truth," said Huff. "I know Zuppke is worth more money. It is hardly necessary to state that his position at Illinois is absolutely permanent so far as the university is concerned."

Dick Hanley, a third midwestern coach who has been mentioned prominently as a likely choice for positions now vacant at California, Pennsylvania and other schools, previously has indicated his intention of remaining at Northwestern.

Glenn Thistlethwaite was the only Big Ten coach to experience organized opposition from alumni critics this year and it appeared for a time that he would be added to the long list of ex-coaches in Wisconsin's famous "graveyard of coaches." Aggressive support by Athletic Director Geo. Little, athletic committees and sports writers, who realized the difficulties under which Thistlethwaite worked, defeated the opposition and no change is in prospect at Wisconsin.

Other Big Ten coaches are certain to be retained. A. A. Stagg is a fixture at Chicago. Sam Willaman at Ohio State, Burt Ingwersen at Iowa and Pat Page at Indiana won renewed support by overcoming handicpas to turn in brilliant late season victories. Noble Kizer at Purdue and Fritz Crisler at Minnesota did excellent work during their first season as head coaches and Harry Kipke silenced the wolves who sought his scalp last year by leading his team through a successful season.

GIRL UNAFRAID

BY GLADYS JOHNSON

ARDETH CARROLL is just a shopgirl, leading a very simple life, but her ideals are high. She looks beyond the drab existence marriage to Neil Burke would mean. Seeing handsome Ken Gleason with Cecile Parker, society belle, Ardeth's heart leaps. When Cecile's sister, Jeanette, opens a specialty shop, she asks Ardeth to take charge. Ardeth meets Ken at the shop. Shortly after, knowing Jeanette has left for the day, Ken calls, feigning he had planned to drive Jeanette home. He asks Ardeth to go instead. Ken plans a foursome of Ardeth, Jeanette, Tom Corbett and himself. Jeanette and Tom are unable to go, so Ken is alone with Ardeth. They picnic together, their hearts racing with each other's nearness. Ken kisses Ardeth. Next day, Ardeth waits in vain for Ken's visit. She feels she was just another flirtation. One night Ken meets Ardeth after work and her heartaches vanish.

CHAPTER XI.

HER head went proudly up. She fumbled for the door handle and turned, a light good night on her lips.

Her sweet brave gaze caught in his own. The man gave a reckless little laugh and pulled her into his arms.

Again that strange heady happiness surging through her blood. Pulsing in her lips. Ah, life was sweet . . . sweet . . .

Ken's voice, a husky whisper.

"Open your eyes, sweetheart . . . Look at me . . ."

Obediently she lifted her lashes. Startling to find his face poised a few inches above her own. His eyes—wide—intent, growing out of the dark.

A funny little shake in his voice, as though he spoke against his will.

"Hungry for you, sweetheart . . . just plain starved! I couldn't stay away another day."

She hardly heard his words. Her heart was throbbing an undertone which turned each drop of blood in her veins to sparkling golden wine. Her eyes closed as their lips met and her arm crept about Ken's neck, drawing his face closer.

Where this blind love for Ken was leading her Ardeth did not stop to consider. Later, when she looked back upon this time in memory, it seemed impossible that she could have been so indifferent to the future.

She was in a trance of happiness. Nothing was very real these days, save Ken. She went about in a dream which took no note of the things which had once grated on her. Aunt Stel's nagging—Bet's petty spite—these held no weight. Even Neil had become one of the shadowy people melting into her background when she was not with Ken.

Afterwards, Ardeth wondered if it was not some instinctive fear of the future which kept her thoughts from crystalizing into practical plans—some subtle sense of trouble which makes the dreamer persist in the dream because waking means facing unpleasant reality.

Jeanette's little shop was doubly dear to Ardeth at this time—not only as escape from the shabby Harrison flat, but because it provided a meeting place for Ken and herself.

Rarely a day when Ken did not drop in now, as Jeanette observed to herself wth a narrow secretive smile. The smokerie gave him ample excuse

Jeanette's scheme to turn the backroom into a woman's smoking retreat was proving a bonanza.

Always someone dropping into the shop now for a cup of tea or a cigarette, or for that other excellent reason—merely to see who else was there.

Ardeth grew to know by sight women who had been only names to her in the society section of the Sunday papers. Young matrons and the more sophisticated of the debutantes, for the most part, with always a piquant peppering of men.

From the middle of the forenoon to the closing hour they sauntered in for free tea and expensive cigarettes. The backroom breathed always of incense and expensive perfumes and tinkled with teacups and laughter. It took on the nature of a smart club.

Jeanette, beginning to be bored by the game of tending shop, found new interest in playing hostess. She was generally in the smokerie these days, chatting over the latest bit of gossip or subtly engineering the sale of her latest perfume—powder compact—cigarette case or holder, leaving the care of the outer shop to Ardeth.

A changing show, passing under the eyes of the slender golden-haired girl watching from behind the glass case. She came to know their individualities . . . Tow-headed Phyllis Hawkins, lisping sophistries with a baby stare. The vacant faced Duvant twins, the one who giggled and the one who drawled "Not ree-ally!" Tall, dark Mary Eastwood, whom she liked for a sort of boyish frankness in her manner.

And there was Cyril Underhill . . .

A dark, silly sort of person was Cyril. His features were Eurasian—something of the wariness of the Orient, too, in his long black eyes. One felt instinctively that he had no right to his English name.

Something of feline grace about his tall, slim figure which fascinated most women and caused most men to long to punch him.

"He makes me think of secret stairways and daggers and poison cups," said Ardeth to Jeanette on the occasion of his first visit to the store.

Jeanette shrugged and laughed: "Oh—Cyril! No one really takes him seriously—but he keeps them entertained." As though in vindication, a burst of laughter came from the back room, trailing the Duvant twin's deliciously shocked "Not ree-ally!" in its wake.

Cyril Underhill always knew the details of the latest scandal. Standing with one slender white hand trailing over the corner of a Coramandel screen, his heavy-lidded eyes looking about at his appreciative feminine audience, he had a way of tossing out pungent footnotes with a bold lightness which robbed them of maliciousness until one came to think them over later.

Cecile especially got piquant enjoyment out of his society. Often he sat beside her on the divan of an afternoon, murmuring in a cynical undertone until Cecile's orange lips parted and her sharp little teeth glistened through.

Only one other person in "The Caprice" disliked him as did Ardeth. This was Ah-Ling, the little Chinese maid. When he addressed these two girls, Cyril's tone changed. It lost the slight suggestion of flattering homage he paid the other woman and took on a shade of appraising patronage.

As Ah-Ling, in her leaf-green silk robe, passed the Canton teacups about the smokerie, his hooded gaze followed her. He called her "Dah-ling"—a witticism which brought forth appreciative laughter in the backroom and flashing-eyed resentment in the outer shop where Ah-Ling held forth to Ardeth.

"The insulting pup!" Ah Ling expressed herself in most unpicturesque Americanese. 'I'd like to smack him one for that!'"

But not all the men who frequented the smokerie were of the type of Cyril. There was Fred Eastwood, Mary's stout stockbroker husband. And one day Ken brought Tom Corbett. Tom Corbett was a slow-spoken chap, stocky and sandy-haired, the sort of man children and dogs like immediately. When Ken introduced him, Ardeth privately marvelled at the strong bond of friendship which had held the two men since their college days. They were exact opposites. Tom was slow where Ken was quick. Ken was sparkling water—Tom, solid earth. Yet there was between them a deep regard, a quiet loyalty which exists between few men and no women.

Ken's appearance in the shop this morning was hailed with feminine cries of delight.

"Ken Gleason—come over here and tell me why you didn't show at the Waller dance last night!" Cecile ordered with pretty imperativeness.

And suddenly—as she watched him go into the other room and seat himself beside Cecile, who moved over to make room for him, Ardeth's fools' paradise vanished about her.

She was tremulous—fear, like a little dagger, sticking in her heart.

To be forced to remain out there in the shop while Ken vanished in there. . . . In there—that other world, where he belonged and she could not follow. It was like a symbol . . . a warning of what would always be. . . .

She moved about the place—keenly aware as she passed the open door that Ken's sparkling face was turned toward Cecile, and her heart was heavy.

Tears stinging her eyes as she automatically rearranged the trinkets on the case. She was so lost in her own somber thoughts that she jumped nervously at a man's voice sounding beside her.

Tom Corbett had come out and had leaned on the case, his serious brown eyes fastened on her face.

ALUMNI SHOW LACK OF PRACTICE BUT FLASHES OF OLD SPEED EVIDENT

Not a has-been among them! That was one angle from which the fans looked at the former bright lights of the Brainerd high school squad in the annual cage game between the Alumni and the Varsity last evening at the B. H. S. gym.

Putting up a strong fight but handicapped by lack of practice together and hard put to break the zone defense which confronted their attacks, the Alumni boys finished up on the short end of a 22 to 20 count.

Frank Wise, scoring demon and savior of many a high school battle, was held to one field goal and one free through although his floor work was one of the highlights of the game.

Every member of the Alumni squad showed increased weight with the exception of "Ichabod" Guin who, when his one field goal and one free throw is considered, had a mediocre night. Guin has flashed through many a high school struggle and is this year trying out for a berth on the Teachers' College quint at St. Cloud.

Benny Foster started the game but was forced out in the early minutes of the game with a wrenched knee.

There was heavy substituting by both teams and "Pee Wee" Ray Wise achieved a long dreamed ambition of playing against his notable elder brother. He was inserted in the fray in the closing minute and a half of the first half.

Elmer Foster was the scoring ace of the evening. He found the hoop for five field goals.

Coach Bill Dammann gave Schuety a good workout to prepare him for play in the January 3 game when Brainerd will meet Duluth Central here. Schuety has been out of competition so far this season with a finger injury received in football. He was seen to favor the injured finger, which affected his game somewhat.

The fans got a kick out of Referee Peterson's penalty against Frank Wise when the veteran failed to report to him on going into the game in the first quarter for Hautala.

The Alumni started Paine, Hautala, Guin, Foster and Garvey, substituting Fuller for Foster, Clausen for Garvey, Gabiou for Garvey, Wise for Hautala, Hoffbauer for Guin, Goedderz for Hautala and Paine for Goedderz.

The Varsity trotted out Foster, Wygle, Patterson, Marshall, Schuety and subbed Swanson for Wygle, White for Schuety, Jerry Wygle for Patterson, Ray Wise for Swanson and Wygle for Swanson.

The score was tied 5-5 at the quarter, the Varsity led 13 to 8 at the half, kept a lead of 18 to 13 at the third quarter and was ahead 22 to 20 at the close.

Last year's Varsity-Alumni game was won by the Alumni by a close margin.

COACHING WILL NOT ENDANGER ROCKNE'S HEALTH

BOB ZUPPKE NOT TO BE LURED AWAY FROM ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

MIDWEST TO SEE NO IMPORTANT COACHING CHANGES THIS SEASON

By DIXON STEWART

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Dec. 24. — Announcement that continued coaching will not endanger Knute Rockne's health and that Bob Zuppke will not be lured away from Illinois by offers from other colleges no matter what the salary, today exploded two of the hot stove league's most persistent rumors. With Rockne and Zuppke certain to retain their present positions, it appears probable that the midwest will see no important coaching changes this season.

Rockne previously had denied reports that he planned to retire from active coaching and devote his attention to his position as athletic director at Notre Dame. With the announcement of Dr. C. J. Barborka of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., that Rockne has been advised to abandon some of the "annoying routine" of his strenuous life but can continue coaching without endangering his health, all doubt was removed regarding the Notre Dame mentor's continued activity.

Zuppke announced his intention of remaining at Illinois just before entraining for Dallas, Texas, where he will direct a midwest team in the annual Dixie classic charity game Jan. 1.

"I do not want to be put in the position of declining offers which have been made," said Zuppke, "but to settle the gossip which has connected my name with several positions I want to say that I shall not leave Illinois under any consideration. It is the only university I ever have coached. I have been here 18 years and Illinois means too much to me ever to think of leaving."

George Huff, director of athletics at Illinois, expressed pleasure at Zuppke's decision and praised the coach. "It seems to be fashionable just now to regard all football coaches as merely mercenary, which in my opinion is far from the truth," said Huff. "I know Zuppke is worth more money. It is hardly necessary to state that his position at Illinois is absolutely permanent so far as the university is concerned."

Dick Hanley, a third midwestern coach who has been mentioned prominently as a likely choice for positions now vacant at California, Pennsylvania and other schools, previously has indicated his intention of remaining at Northwestern.

Glenn Thistlethwaite was the only Big Ten coach to experience organized opposition from alumni critics this year and it appeared for a time that he would be added to the long list of ex-coaches in Wisconsin's famous "graveyard of coaches." Aggressive support by Athletic Director Geo. Little, athletic committees and sports writers, who realized the difficulties under which Thistlethwaite worked, defeated the opposition and no change is in prospect at Wisconsin.

Other Big Ten coaches are certain to be retained. A. A. Stagg is a fixture at Chicago. Sam Willaman at Ohio State, Burt Ingwersen at Iowa and Pat Page at Indiana won renewed support by overcoming handicpas to turn in brilliant late season victories. Noble Kizer at Purdue and Fritz Crisler at Minnesota did excellent work during their first season as head coaches and Harry Kipke silenced the wolves who sought his scalp last year by leading his team through a successful season.

TOM MIX DIVORCED BY HIS WIFE TODAY

Los Angeles, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Tom Mix, internationally known as a cowboy movie star and circus performer, was divorced here today by Mrs. Victoria Mix, who alleged extreme mental cruelty.

The hearing conducted by Judge Dudley Valentine occupied only a few minutes. Mrs. Mix testified as to Mix's alleged persistence in staying away from home and his refusal to give any explanation of his whereabouts during his absence.

St. Paul, Dec. 24.—(U.P.)—Armed with sub-machine guns, three gunsquads today arrested five men believed implicated in a series of safe crackings here during the past year.

STOP A COUGH IN TIME

Or It May Develop Seriously

It may be "only a cough" today, but tomorrow it may be something serious. A "slight cough" has been the start of many a permanent cough as well as grave illness. The time to stop a cough is before it gets rooted. The quick and effective remedy is good, dependable old Skauge's Never Cough.

Skauge's Never Cough does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages, soothes the inflamed tissues and at the same time, has a tonic effect that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Skauge's Never Cough supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give, even to babies.

Get a bottle at Skauge Drug Co., 712 Laurel Street. advt

PIMPLES If you want to get rid of ugly, disgusting pimples in a hurry, try the harmless new remedy, in convenient tablet form, called Kitagran. It gets rid of the impurities in the blood so quickly that the skin clears up right away—often within 24 hours. Sold by leading druggists. You can always get Kitagran here at Johnson's Pharmacy, who will return your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied—The Kitagran Co., N. Y. City. advt.
